The contest for the governorship came up at Frankfort this week, and is now going on at a slow pace. There is no telling what the outcome will be. Speaking of the cost of the matter, Ex-Gov. Bradley said: "This contest will involve a vast amount of labor and will be very expensive to the State. A county contest is a big thing, a district contest is an enormous thing, but a State contest is a tremendous thing. We have been allotted five days in which to examine witnesses. We can not do it in that time, and unless it is decided to chop off and make a decision without hearing testimony we will be at it for days and days. As to the expense, there is hardly a way of estimating it accurately at this time. There is the cost of issuing the subpoenas and the summoning of the witnesses, the mileage of witnesses to and from Frankfort and an allowance of $1 per day each for the witnesses while in Frankfort. All of this will foot up into the thousands. It is a lamentable state of affairs indeed."

The papers of the big Eastern cities have grown tired of publishing stories about the revolution and bloodshed threatened by the Kentucky politicians for several months past, and several of them have called down their correspondents lately with fierce telegrams not to send any more such stories until the blood-letting actually begins. These correspondents are more to blame for Kentucky's reputation abroad than any other cause. A law should be passed to suppress the sending of such lies to papers. The publishers are, in a measure, to blame, though it is hard for them to tell when telegrams are authentic, especially so when they are in such a hurry to publish matter that will probably scoop their rivals.

This week at Frankfort is busy and exciting. The contest committees are hearing witnesses, the Court of Appeals will render a decision on the injunction case of the election Commissioners, and several legislative contests will be decided. The contest committees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor commenced hearing testimony Monday and the democrats are giving evidence first. From Friday to Wednesday of the week following the republicans will be heard. The democrats will be given a day for rebuttal and several days will be devoted to arguments. It is surely a hot time in the old town. Lay on MacDuff, and damned be the whole gang.

FRANKFORT dispatches say a number of "tough characters" have been arrested and big pistols found upon them. Now why arrest the "tough" parties and allow the high-cock-a-looms go about lugging miniature cannons? It is a safe estimate to say that ninety-five per cent. of those now at the capital are weighted down with pistols, bowie knives, etc. This makes a bad impression for the state, but there will be no trouble there. One man, armed with a seasoned hickory stick, could stampede the whole gang.

A LITTLE fire-eating exchange says it "doesn't see how a newspaper can be non-partisan in these exciting times." Nor can we see how some papers (on both sides of the fence) can sanction some of the work done and being done in the state by bosses. A great many men have openly expressed their disapproval of it, and many more would, were they not afraid of the party lash.

REPORT says a Louisville insurance agent recently insured a Frankfort man, and the New York office sent him word to cancel the policy until the trouble at Frankfort was over. The company is sadly off. Such risks are the best they could possibly take, as politicians seldom die and instead of getting their own hide perforated with bullet holes, always manage to get some friend shot.

THERE is a movement at Frankfort to remove the capital to Lexington. This would be a good idea. In the first place, Lexington is one of the best little cities not only in the state, but the United States, and secondly, public matters would improve if brought out of the sink hole and placed where the fresh air would strike them.

A fellow named Brown, of Dublin, Ind., walked 12,875 miles, or over half way around the world, to secure his bride. If she fails to be the pink of perfection he imagined her to be, he will now doubtless have to walk twice the distance in keeping out of her way.

THE Richmond city council has issued orders to enforce the closing of saloons on Sundays, and even the side

"I am indebted to one Minute Cough Cure for my health and life. It cured me of lung trouble following grippe." Thousands owe their lives to the prompt action of this never failing remedy. It cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe and throat and lung troubles. Its early use prevents consumption. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. F. P. Frisbie. 1m door is to be locked, barred and bolted. When we call on Clarence Woods now, the visits will be made on week days.

A HEADLINE over a Commercial Tribune editorial reads, "What is Lying?" The propounder of the question would have all doubts dispelled if he will read both sides sent out from Frankfort.

22-CALIBRE politicians armed with 45-calibre pistols look a little awkward, but the supply of that class is quite plentiful at Frankfort just now.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN denies the report sent out by a Boston trade paper that he is in favor of a protective tariff on wool.

Having a Great Run on Chamberlain's

It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every state in the Union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup. It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher of Liberty, W. Va., only reports what has been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that it is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for sale by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is said to be buying up the stock of the C. and O. railroad.

MARKSBURY.

H. D. Aldridge sold a nice beef to C. A. Robinson for 3c per lb.

There is an old adage "If certain people say the crow is white no one will say it is black." The white crow is not a myth for one has been seen in this community quite often of late. It is the size of its ebony associates but is of snowy whiteness.

Miss Lula Burk, a charming young lady, of Paint Lick, is visiting Mrs. M. L. Anderson, much to the delight of a certain Bryantsville gentleman. Messrs. Everett Gould and Hughes Aldridge, of Lancaster, attended services at the Fork Sunday and visited friends in this community. Mr. Charley Durham is visiting friends in Corbin.

The family of Mr. J. C. Boner was very much shocked Tuesday morning when they went to Mr. O. K. Boner's room and found that he had died during the night. He was the last surviving brother of Mr. J. C. Boner and had made his house his home for several years. He has been afflicted with paralysis for some time, but seemed Monday to be feeling better than usual. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and often expressed his willingness to die and at rest. His remains were interred at Pleasant Grove Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves has caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve Remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m

I have a few hats I will close out at cost, to make room for my spring millinery. Allie S. Haselden.

August Flower.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houston, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last years, I have met more people, having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottles free at J. E. Stormes' Drug Store. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

PAINT LICK.

The boys of this city have organized a D. D. society, with a membership of 14. They meet every Tuesday and Friday nights.

I never saw a fellow so rejoiced." Sold by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m Hardin.

Died, at his home, McCreary, January 9th, 1900, Merrill Hardin, in his 73rd year. He was married to Virginia A. Jones on March 13th 1855, who died June 15th 1895. To this union there were born eleven children, nine of whom are still living in this county, except J. D. Hardin who live in Decatur Ill. He had been a great, yet patient sufferer from heart trouble for many years, and fully realized the approaching dissolution and was fully reconciled to the will of his Master, having joined the Baptist church at Buckeye, this county some fourteen years ago, and since then he lived a humble, earnest christian life, showing by his example that there is something real in the religion that he professed. In fact his whole life was one of honesty of purpose, and justness to everyone, possessed of a strong, well-balanced mind, always ready, in fairness, to settle any difficulty between neighbors, but never ready to create a disturbance. His advice was often sought and followed and the writer has often heard persons say, "I know this is so because Merrill Hardin told me." This is proof of the high regard in which he was held by all who knew him.

On the morning of January 11, a large concourse of friends and neighbors gathered at Buckeye church to pay the last sad rites to his mortal remains and after listening to a timely discourse from Rev. J. C. Massee, from the text, "If a man die shall he live again?" his body was laid in its resting place beside his wife and two daughters that had gone before. Children, you will miss him and his wise counsel but heed his advice, emulate his example and in the end all will be well with you. McCreary, Jan. 15, 1900.
